

Emma Klint

emma.klint@me.com

070 572 86 75

I'm a UX designer and developer with experience from working with visual design who are passionate about gender equality, especially in tech, and how the internet and other digital tools shapes our society and us as individuals. I'm also particullary interested in wearables, augmented reality and the quantified self. I want to design and build digital experiences which helps people in their daily life and to create a more diverse and including digital future.

Education

KTH Royal Institute of Technology

Media Technology

August 2013 - current

Experience

Graphic Designer

Netlight Consulting

January 2016 - September 2017

Art Director & Board Member

Pepp

December 2014 - current

I worked part time at Netlight Consulting as a Graphic Designer. My work included designing material for social media, invitations and presentations but also printed material like business cards, note books and different kinds of data visualisations.

Pepp is a mentouring program aiming to inspire girls to consider an education in tech. I was a member of the project group as Art Director in Stockholm. Currently I'm responsible for our overall brand and web page as a member of the board.

Digital Editor & Deputy Editor

Osqledaren

September 2014 - June 2017

Osqledaren is the student union paper at KTH. I've worked with several different tasks during my three years, including planning and publishing of content, social media strategies and also designing the editorial workflow and evaluation methods.

Skills

> Illustrator

> Sketch App

> InDesign

> Photoshop

> HTML/CSS

> JavaScript

> AngularJS

> Vue.js

> UX Design

> Visual Design

> InVision

> Photography